

Policy Brief: Addressing Root Causes of Indiscriminate Violence Through Biblical Separation and Voluntary Association Executive Summary:

Ongoing violence claims tens of thousands of innocent lives across all races each year, often in preventable conflicts rooted in cultural incompatibility. This brief examines the spiritual and practical failures of forced integration, affirms the divine order of distinct races and borders, and proposes complete separation with voluntary trade and association as the path to peace. True solutions reject secular political agendas and return to scriptural principles. The Problem: Certain groups continue to perpetrate mass violence against innocents of every race with little apparent cause or provocation. These tragedies are not random but stem directly from attempts to impose one culture and society upon peoples for whom it was never designed. White communities, driven by a misplaced “savior complex,” often ignore the clear messages coming from those affected and continue policies that exacerbate harm rather than resolve it. The result is unnecessary suffering that could be entirely avoided.

Biblical and Spiritual Analysis:

Scripture records that the Lord created the races and established their borders for a divine purpose (Acts 17:26). Efforts to erase these distinctions by forcibly mixing peoples and declaring them identical contradict God’s design. In the Bible and Quran, those who pursue this homogenization are identified with Babylon—the system that seeks to unify humanity under a false banner. Babylonians serve a god who identifies as the devil, whose name itself means “liar.” Their methods therefore rely on deception, promoting the illusion of sameness while ignoring the real differences God ordained. This satanic political project fuels conflict by denying natural order rather than honoring it.

Proposed Solution:

Complete and Voluntary Separation Lasting peace requires full separation of peoples according to their God-given identities. Interactions between groups must be limited to voluntary trade and free association, never compelled by government mandates or ideological agendas.

*Reject all forced integration policies.

*End attempts to remake any race or culture into another.

*Restore borders and distinctions that Scripture honors.

*Replace coercive secular systems with relationships grounded in mutual consent and respect.

This approach eliminates the friction that breeds violence and allows each people to thrive within the culture and society suited to them.

Call to Action:

Beloved, the violence we witness is 100% preventable when we align with God's created order instead of man-made deceptions. White believers especially are called to lay down the savior complex, listen humbly, and support separation rooted in love and truth.
